TRIBUTE TO MR. DONOHUE

"A friend has the skill and observation of the best physician; the diligence and vigilance of the best nurse; and the tenderness and patience of the best mother."

In this sense Mr. John M. Donohue has been a true friend to Kennedy.

As Head of the English Department, he used his Irish ancestry to turn his classroom into an enchanted realm where leprechauns might weave their magic spells. For his classes the world of literature became a living reality, a fascinating place where they could explore the intricacies of poetic thought, the mysteries of drama. Many graduates have departed these halls better prepared for life because of the truths they garnered from the lessons in his room. It was through his inspiration and tireless endeavour that one of Kennedy's prized traditions was firmly established—the Stratford Trip.

As Vice-Principal of our school, he employed his wit and wisdom to good effect on the entire student body. He has always been ready with the helping hand or the encouraging word and he could make even a detention seem to be almost a joyful thing.

We shall greatly miss our Mr. Donohue but we are pleased that he is to be an inspector for our city. Although we must now share him with all the schools of the system, we can do so safe in the knowledge that Kennedy's "little bit o' Ireland" will now be in a position where his inimitable personality can have its greatest influence for the good of our community.

To our friend Mr. Donohue we say:

We may never have wealth, we may never be great,
But we know we shall always be true,
For we have in our lives that courage you gave
When once we touched shoulders with you.

MR. J. M. DONOHUE, Vice-Principal

TEACHERS LEAVING

MR. RUDKIN

Mr. Rudkin came to our school two years ago from working in Canadian History in the National Archives at Ottawa. Since that time, he has contributed much in historical knowledge and athletic coaching. He leaves us to attain higher standards of academic achievement and is wished the greatest of success and good fortune by all of us at Kennedy.

MR. FLETCHER

Mr. Fletcher has been a member of our staff for 10 years. As head of our math department, he has built a progressive and up to date course. He has taught all grades, taken part in the cadet programme, has guided the prefects. Work and play mixed well in his classes. We are deeply sorry to see him leave us. The students and staff wish him well in his new post as vice-principal of Mitchell High School.

MR. GREEN

One of the main stays of Kennedy's teaching and coaching staffs will be leaving this June to further his studies for one year. Mr. Green has been a member of the faculty since 1947 and has taken an active part in extra-curricular activities every year. He has been a most successful track coach in city and provincial competition. We wish Mr. Green "good luck" in the coming year.

EDITORIAL

Summer waits beyond the corridors of this school. She waits behind the last pages of our books, and in that section of our mind no longer cluttered with studies. Those months, full of drowsy days spent under a gently-burning sun, or those nights spent under the veil of a serene sky, are what most have been waiting for. But for the successful grade thirteen student the end of his high school career marks the beginning of his struggle against the outside world. The Edmunds of the world stand in wait for him thinking that he is easy prey. He must beware. He finds himself in the middle of a great "plaza" with roads radiating to the length and breadth of the earth. One of these roads he must follow.

During this past year all have tried to accomplish something. Some have striven to succeed in grade thirteen simply for the satisfaction of knowing that they could do it. Others have felt that grade thirteen would broaden their mental viewpoint on various matters and so they too went through the "ordeal". Still others took it simply because there wasn't anything better to do. Whatever the reasons were, all must agree that this past year has done more for us than any of the previous twelve. We were treated as prospective adults. We were given a taste of responsibility and a chance to see whether we were ready to face life on our own, or if we still need someone to push us constantly.

We sought to develop into what we were expected to be. We wanted to fulfil our desires and those of our parents, relatives and friends. We glanced at every possible field available to us and decided which one we were made for.

Unfortunately some may still be doubtful as to what road they should take. But despair must never beseege us. We must never stop searching for our purpose in life. We all do have one, only sometimes finding it is a very difficult task. If our doubts do stop us, we are dead.

If we have searched fervently for our objective, no doubt we have stumbled on it, and if we haven't come to it yet we will eventually. When we have found it we must pursue it with vigour.

However, our thirst for knowledge must never be quenched. We must not satisfy ourselves with the bare minimum. We must go on and we must not yield. There is so much to do, so much to learn, so many new things to see, and so little time to do it all in. Only a fraction of our existence has HE allotted to each of us for these, our earthly pleasures.

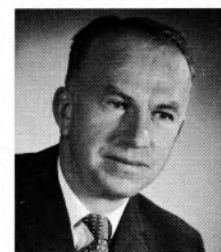

We will look back on these days and we will see our struggles, our defeats, and our victories. We will recall our delights and our satisfactions. That is what grade thirteen is made of.

I will remember the days of discussions that brought us to the brink of armed rebellion in our English classes. I will remember the disagreements with a certain member of our class over questions of materialism. I will remember that hour a few of us spent arguing the pros and cons about everything from girls who enjoy being told what to do by men, to the problem of immigration into Canada. I will remember trying to keep awake during that first period after having "studied" to the stroke of twelve and far beyond it the night before. So many memories are going to be locked up at Kennedy for me.

I suppose to some I may sound terribly trite. But I am convinced that no matter what words you may utter, your feelings cannot be far from mine. You too must feel as if you have lost an old friend, one that you can never hope to encounter again for the rest of your life.

Now that grade thirteen has come to a close, a stage in our lives has ended with it. We are free to shape our futures. For years we have wanted freedom and responsibility, but now that we have it there is something frightening about it. We aren't in "God's hands"; we are in our own hands. Someone once told me that if I want to be successful in life I must learn "to strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield." We can't expect something for nothing because just as Lear found out "Nothing will come of nothing."

A MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

JOHN WHEELTON, Q.C.
Mayor of Windsor

When Kennedy Collegiate was officially opened by Governor-General Willingdon I was attending Public School. My main interest at that time was the fond hope that he would proclaim a school holiday in honour of his visit.

When I started at Kennedy it was a relatively new building and an item of local interest because of its unique architecture. Thirty years later as I drive past I am impressed with the fact that this is true to-day.

Before graduation I had the rare experience of having my father as Principal. I can assure you that I enjoyed no special privileges as such. In fact it served as a deterrent to my occasional bursts of mischief as I knew I would surely get caught.

I am deeply grateful to the many excellent teachers under whom I received counselling and instruction. I cherish to-day their valuable contribution not only to my own personal life but literally thousands of others.

Although the opportunities I now have to stroll through the halls are few, I am deeply moved when I read the names on the Honour Rolls. Most of those who paid the supreme sacrifice were close friends. The Honour Rolls serve as a testimony that "Our Liberty is bought with a price."

To the student body I wish to repeat what I am sure you often hear. Make the utmost of your opportunity for learning. This opportunity comes once in a lifetime. From the moment you enter your secondary school your future is in your hands. The need for talented, educated young people was never so great in our Canadian history.

In his great play, Julius Caesar, Shakespeare tells us:

*"There is a tide in the affairs of men,
Which, taken at flood, leads on to fortune;*

*Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and miseries."*

May I thank the management of Kencoll for the privilege of reaching you through the medium of your 1965 edition.

Good Luck, Graduates

... then the door to higher education can often be opened through scholarships. Since 1955, the General Motors companies in Canada have assisted more than 200 students in obtaining a college education. This has been achieved through the provision annually of 25 four-year scholarships of up to $2000 per year in value, and through grants to universities. We like to think that we have helped to make determination pay off.

Applications for General Motors Scholarships should be directed to the Registrars of the following participating Universities: The University of Toronto; The University of Western Ontario, London; Queen's University, Kingston; The University of Montreal; The University of Manitoba, Winnipeg; The University of British Columbia, Vancouver; The University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; The University of Alberta, Edmonton; The University of New Brunswick, Fredericton; Laval University, Quebec City; McGill University, Montreal; Memorial University, St. John's, Newfoundland; Dalhousie University, Halifax; and McMaster University, Hamilton.

12A CLASS NEWS

Occasionally, a class in Kennedy Collegiate breaks away from the ordinary and decides to be original. To say that the following tribute is original is perhaps assuming too much, for 12A is not certain that something like this has not been done in the past. Nevertheless, we feel it is fitting that the space provided for class news be given over to an article about Miss Pullen, our home-room teacher. We wish to make it clear that such an article is not merely for the sake of originality.

Perhaps foremost in our minds is the gratitude we feel to Miss Pullen. Calling her a good English teacher would be a gross understatement and a more accurate adjective would be inspiring. Everyone reading this article knows the difference an English teacher can make in his or her class. English can be dreadfully boring. Or, it can be enjoyable and pleasant. We feel strongly that it is Miss Pullen's influence that makes our English periods truly enjoyable.

However, more is needed in a period than a pleasant atmosphere, for a class that is all fun and no work has little hope of passing. And often, it is the teacher again who can inspire a class to work. Anyone who has been in one of Miss Pullen's English classes knows that one either works or "gets out", putting it in our own teacher's words. This policy, which might easily offend many, creates few hard feelings among students.

In summary, 12A feels that it is indeed fortunate to have a teacher like Miss Pullen. We realize that a teacher who can make school work enjoyable is truly a teacher that is not to be found everywhere.

Guidebook to a Challenging Career

This interesting booklet could show you the way to a career which is giving great satisfaction to hundreds of high school graduates. It outlines what the B of M can offer you . . . gives details on the many absorbing jobs to be filled . . . the promotions you can qualify for . . . the pension plan and other benefits you are entitled to as a career banker with Canada's First Bank.

If you are interested in getting started in a career with a future when you graduate from high school it would be smart to find out now if the B of M is for you.

Why not drop in soon to your nearest B of M branch and ask for a copy of "Career Opportunities at Canada's First Bank". Have a word with the manager about your prospects. Or drop a line to the Staff Department, Bank of Montreal, P.O. Box 6002, Montreal, P.Q. and ask for a copy.

MY CUP

By Dorothy Pitters

I wonder why it is that I am sad—not melancholy sad
—but sad so that every fibre of my being screams regret?
Regret?

Regret for every kind word left unsaid, regret for every lovely gift unused; regret for every day long past that was not filled with cheerful joy; regret for every nasty thought that penetrated a willing inner mind;
regret that I was not, and am not, like Him.

Him?

He lifted hearts with tales of loving deeds; He used His every talent just for me; He filled His every day with the vivacity of perfection, lest someone else's cup run over. It never did.

It's snowing to-night, and I am sad.

AN ODE TO DEATH

By H. Staudt

Like the cool, silent, wind of the night
It comes; barren and cold, seeking of days
Long spent and forgot in times of light.

It waits and stalks its prey, lurking
Ready to clutch at the few strings of breath
So finely interlaced with the web of life.

Its dark and sombre face is hidden in a cloth
Of erie mystery, which is to us all unveiled
When our right to glance is chosen; not by might.

Then we too slip into the oblivion of no days after Nights, and nights after days. Our woe is Lifted, our bodies at peace. Perhaps.

But I fear it not! I will laugh and Mock its face and shriek and howl
And forewarn my friends in death.

May God then grant me peace!

THE MILL

By Mark Madoff

The arms trace crazy circles on the wind;
tooth in tooth the cogs fall into place,
turning the wooden shafts, as they complain.
And, through this intricacy of wood, through wind,
and through an element called luck,
the wheel, the rough mill-wheel is turned.
It is a piece so rude as to evoke an exclamation from those beholding it as to why so clumsy
a monstrosity as this should press the world's wine.
The nature of the stone its value is;
if roughness, crudeness, were not integral in it,
it would not be of use there for a mill;
thus ugliness has purpose and explains to those more gifted with the sense of deeper sight the reason for what seemed absurdity.
The grapes, wet with dew and rains,
are brought in bulging baskets to the mill,
heaped in violet piles, needing no shadows,
heaped in violet piles, promising luxuries untold.
But, seedless must the fruits of luxury remain;
sterile in return for excesses which they cause.
So let it be; so ever must it be.
The core must be pressed out, harshly removed,
weaned with force from the vegetable womb.
And so the wheel surges 'round,
singing a song to the vintner of Nature's Wit in selling to Man the dull idea that, of all the grape, the wine alone should find his lips, while, over on some hill-side, cloaked in mist,
the thick, low vines, conceived of the outcast seeds,
are turning the Earth green.

COLOUR ME TWICE

By Patti Vidler

I creep through the blackened maze, pausing now and again for I know not what mysteries lurk around me.
Panic grips my heart with an icy hold. Terror stalks these passages and I know not why. There is some thing out there that moves and thrusts and probes and moves again, ever onward, seeking me out. Veils of indigo sweep across my path and murky shadows accompany me. Hot comforting tears of fear wet my cheeks as once again I lose control and slip farther and farther, not into oblivion, but into a timeless madness controlled by mind. My mind —berserk, without reason or understanding. My mind of one emotion—fear, panic and sheer horror. Absolute horror! and now I travel the maze again, searching for, yet hiding from, the unknown, nameless, subconscious nightmare of my id! I scream but no one hears. The walls close in and I cannot stop them. I reach for help, but no one grasps me. I yearn for a love, but no love comes and still it moves. Pulsations from my heart, if there be one left, echo and re-echo, enveloping me in a motionless sound wave, an unyielding thud against my brain and once more I scream. A pitiable scream for who can hear me but myself and I am my own fear.

SPEARS

By Mark Madoff

The way is barbed and nettled and thorned,
But I must pass, though I pass lightly,
With a tender touch of caution and concern;
Kindnesses are rewarded with blood sometimes,
And the spears are dulled not by the passing of the feet;
Reasons are not read by Him who ranges rows of steel against my passage;
The wind blows and the clatter is disdain:
The weapons weigh my acts against the right,
And, when the scale tips, they sting.

OTHER PERSONS' AMBITIONS FOR ME

By Brian Neal

Have you ever considered what you will do when your endless years of schooling have finally terminated? For some people this presents quite a problem, but not for me. My future has been well planned. You see, I am going to be a doctor, a lawyer and an author.

You may ask yourself just how this peculiar situation came into being. Well, actually, it is quite simple. My mother, after spending many productive hours glued to the "idiot box" in open-mouthed admiration of one Ben Casey, doctor by trade, has decided that I would make a perfectly "marvelous doctor". The fact that I am deplorable in chemistry and unable to decipher even the simplest of Latin phrases is unimportant, for you see I would look "simply darling" in a clean white coat opened with meticulous carelessness at the throat.

My father, on the other hand, after being awed by the sheer brilliance and magic of Perry Mason, is determined that I shall someday stun the world with my unlimited ingenuity and overwhelming genius. However, if the truth were made known, I become horribly tongue-tied at the mere suggestion of speaking before an audience and seem unable to stumble through the simplest of cross-word puzzles.

Then there is my grandmother—what future could be complete without my grandmother? She has decided beyond a shadow of a doubt that I will be another Hemingway. She is, to put it mildly, a Hemingway fan. She is an ardent member of the Hemingway Book of the Month Club, wears turtleneck sweaters, takes long walks before breakfast, and lines her room with pictures of the venerable old warrior, who she claims reminds her of her late husband, but God only knows how, for he looks nothing like the grandfather I remember so vividly. After deeming herself an expert on Ernest—as she so casually refers to him—she set about planning my future. According to her master plan for my imminent success, all I have to do is write in short, staccato sentences, leaving out the occasional subject and verb and using a simple, brutish vocabulary and my immediate recognition as a world famous author is secured.

If Thomas J. Watson was correct when he said, "The great accomplishments of man have resulted from the transmission of ideas and enthusiasm", then I have a long, successful life ahead.

MY MYSTERY SHIPS

By Dorothy Pitters

They float in silence—
But I can hear
The last few strains
Of decades gone.
The red one there — right there —
You see it? Just seems to scream
"You broke his heart and let him Go."
I didn't really; but—
Well, never mind. You wouldn't want to understand.
Right next to red is one in black,
Floating forever on one spot
Rooted there in the prejudice and ignorance
Of my early twenties — when I knew all.
It is the blue one that I hate the most.
I loathe it as it basks in sunshine,
Forever to remind me of all the time
Spent in brooding,
all alone,
selfishly,
on my sad lot
in life.

SUE

By Patti Vidler

She could have died, I almost lost her; He must have wanted her for He almost took her from me.

After knowing her for seventeen years, after living with her for that long, how could I go on living without her?

Now I walk closer to her; I talk longer with her and I enjoy things more with her. I know, yes, I know now what I almost lost—after all—she almost died.

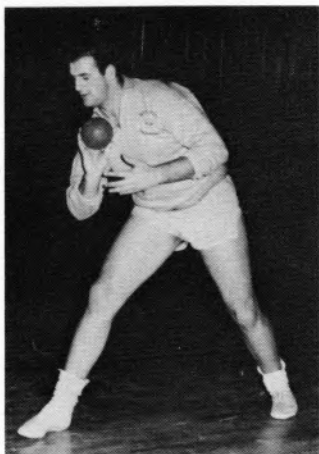

She accepted the fact of death but I could not. It would have ended for her then and a new life would have begun for her, but for me, I would have had to go on alone, without her support. She understood my feelings and told me she would always be beside me. But death? I had always believed in God and believed He would take each of us when He wanted us. But not her! I prayed! Every day and every night I prayed.

Oh, God, don't take her away." He must have been listening and He must have known how I felt for He returned her to me.

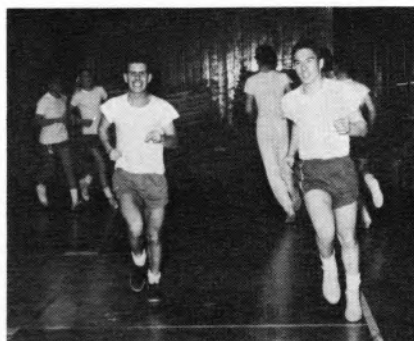

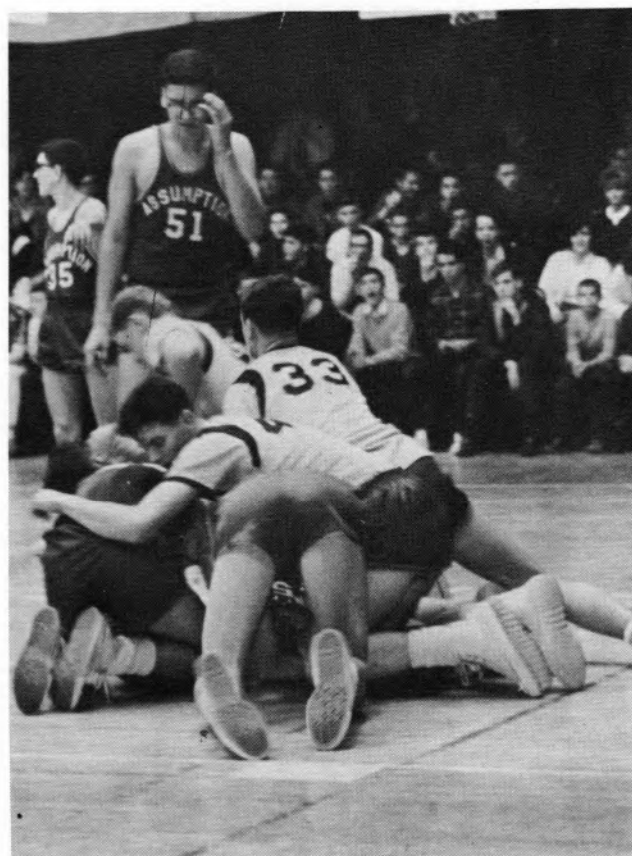

He cured her brain tumour and gave my sister back to me so now I love her more than ever.

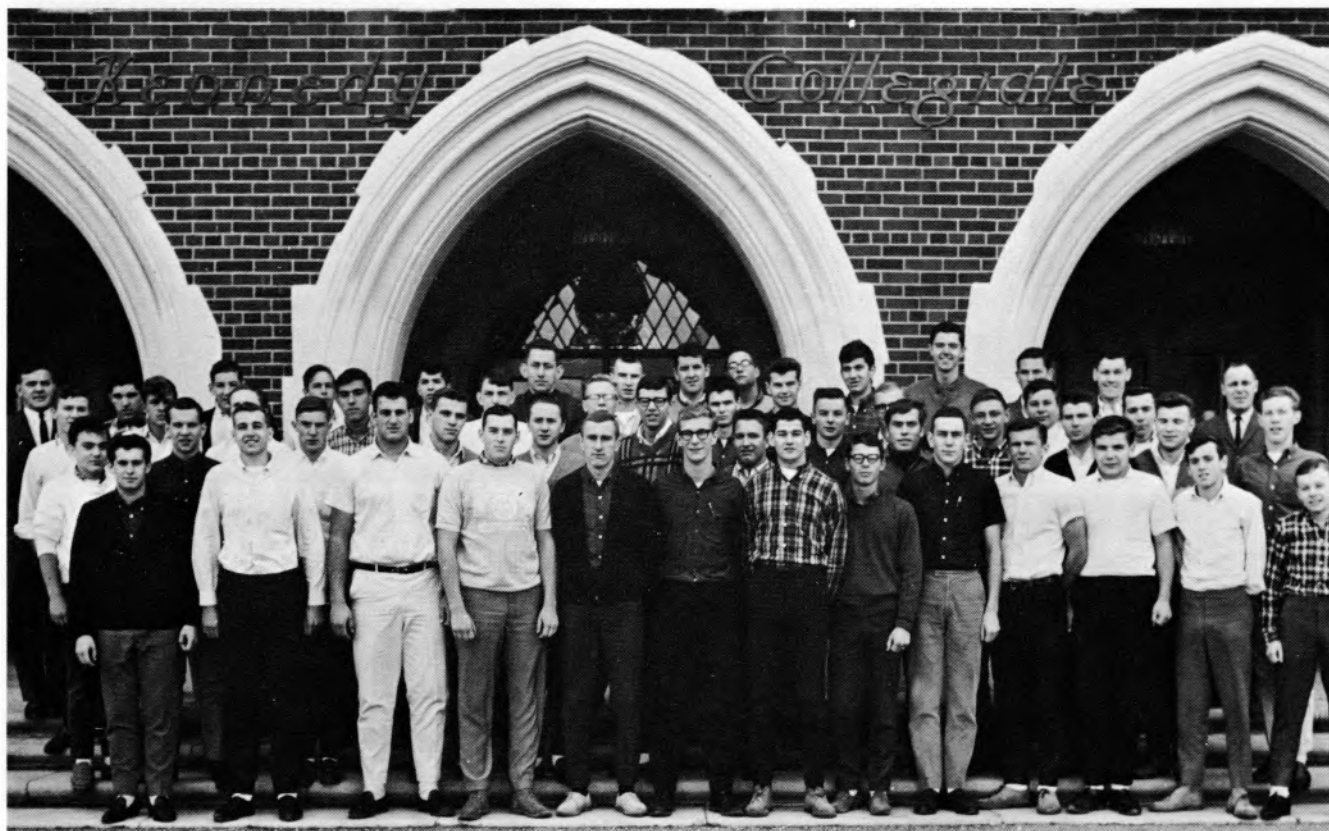

She could have died; I almost lost her; He must have known my need for her for He gave her back to me.

MR. LOUGHEED IN EXAM ROOM—"Bruce, I hope I don't see you look at your book."

BRUCE P.—"I hope you don't either."

GUARD—"HALT. Who goes there?"

YOUNG DRAFTEE—"Aw, you wouldn't know me, I just got here today."

RICKY G. was reading birth and death statistics. Suddenly she turned to TOM. L. and said, "Do you know that every time I breathe a man dies?"

"Very interesting", he replied, "have you tried Certs?"

At the close of a talk on Cleopatra MR. ABEY asked if there were any questions. CATHY R. rose. "I've never been quite clear," she said, "how old Cleopatra was. MR. ABEY hesitated, then said, "Well, when? She was different ages at different times, you know." "Oh," said CATHY, "I never thought of that," and contentedly sat down.

Coming out of a movie theatre, DENNIS Z. and NANCY O. discovered an enormous waiting line, whereupon NANCY exclaims: "Boy, we must have seen a good picture!"

MR. FLETCHER went out with the boys one evening and, before he realized it, the morning of the next day had dawned. He hesitated to call home and tell his wife. Finally he hit upon an idea. He phoned and when MRS. FLETCHER answered, he shouted: "Don't pay the ransom money, dear. I've escaped."

MR. THOMSON (angrily to a late grade niner)—"You should have been here 30 minutes ago."

GRADE NINER (excited) — "Why, what happened?"

MR. ABEY tore his suit and took it to a tailor named ACIDOPOLUS, from Athens. MR. ACIDOPOLUS examined the suit and asked: "EURIPIDES?" "Yes," replied Mr. Abey, "EUMENDIDES?"

BRYN D. —"Boy, we sure had a great time last night for ten cents."

DIANE W.—"Yeah, we sure did. I wonder what my little sister did with it?"

MR. VERES was speeding along Tecumseh road at 70 M.P.H. when a police car pulled up beside him and motioned him to move over to the curb. POLICE OFFICER: "Do you realize that you were going almost 70 M.P.H.? Groping for words, MR. VERES answered: "But sir, I am a teacher at Kennedy Collegiate."

"Ignorance is no excuse," replied the officer, and handed him a ticket.

Last February DENNIS ZERBIN appeared in court as a witness to a car accident.

"Are you on the Kennedy Basketball team this year?" queried the judge.

"Yes," your honour."

"What position?"

"Centre, your honour."

"How good a centre?"

Dennis squirmed in his chair, but in confident tones admitted, "Sir, I'm the best centre Kennedy ever had." Coach Arnot, who was in the courtroom, was surprised because Dennis had always been modest and unassuming. When proceedings were adjourned the coach asked him why he had made such a statement. Zerb. blushed. "I hated to do it coach," he explained, "but after all, I was under oath."

GRADE NINER AT FIRST POOL PERIOD — "Are people drowned in the pool very often?"

MR. GREEN—"No, only once."

OCTET

By
Julianna Retushny

Under the direction of Mr. D. Wearne, the octet had a very successful and rewarding year. With such songs as This Land is Your Land and More, it provided entertainment at a few of the assemblies and also at the fall commencement exercises.

One of the highlights in the octet's 1964-65 program was participation in the annual Windsor Secondary School Music Festival. All present thoroughly enjoyed our presentation of Maria and To-Day and complimented us on our newly obtained two-toned uniforms which contribute to the folk-group style we have adapted.

The members of the octet wish to express their thanks to Mr. Wearne for his time and assistance and hope that next year's octet has as successful a year.

INITIATION

On September 18, 1964 approximately 250 freshmen of the Honourable W. C. Kennedy Collegiate Institute were royally welcomed to the student body on the annual Initiation Day. They were subjected to the senior students' ingenuity and prevailed upon to carry books, clean mud off of shoes, secure timber floats from the local restaurants and clear a royal path for the seniors. Many a fair maiden proposed to the handsome male students and failure to meet their high standards of perfection resulted in an appearance at the Kangaroo Court in the evening, after which the freshmen were entertained at one of the weekly Stardust dances. All in fun, the new students enjoyed every moment of the day and felt very much a part of the school life.

GRADUATION

On the evening of November 14th, the gymnasium was filled to capacity as the Annual Graduation Exercises took place. Sixty-five proud and deserving students were presented with their Honour Graduation Diplomas and one hundred and twenty-seven pupils received their Secondary Graduation Diplomas. The "75" Club Pins were awarded to thirty-two people, while twenty-two more students received Merit Pins.

Jeff Madoff, chosen Valedictorian by his fellow friends, gave a very inspiring speech which will remain in the minds of all the graduates and those attending the ceremony.

The school was honoured by the presence of Mr. G. Buchanan and Mr. J. Ord, who presented diplomas. A series of scholarships and bursaries were awarded by Mr. M. C. Thomson and Mr. J. Donohue.

Good luck to all graduates in your future years!

FRENCH ASSEMBLY

On February 3rd the French Club staged its first French Assembly in Five years. Many hours of work and preparation were spent in aiming for a successful event.

The main theme was a "cultural" one stressing the famous French composers, singers and choreographers of the ballet. With this in mind they goaled for a variety. Their programme included many divers types of entertainment.

The assembly began with the Lord's Prayer spoken in French. Following this, Susan Riggs sang "La Seine." In the course of the programme the audience heard a piano recital by Olga Turchyn, violin music by Lucille Marquis, a former student; music from the choir under the direction of Mr. Abey; the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Levine and music by David Right and Paul Monteleone.

The latter portion of the assembly consisted of a very exciting play entitled "LES CHANDELIERS DE L'EVEQUE," starring Helmut Staudt, Rosie Ahoronian, Bryan Davies and Coloman Balogh. Following this was the presentation of the French speaking Contest Awards by Mother Evelina, judge of the contests for the last seven years.

The French Club would like to thank Mr. Allen, sponsor teacher; Mr. Monger; Lucy D'Annunzio and Dianne Nantais, co-mistresses of ceremonies, and all those helping to make this a success.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

President—Mark Kelly
Secretary-Treasurer—Terry Taylor

This year's club was formed in late January. During the year they sold school crests to raise money for the Forum, and also planned a trip to Ottawa. This trip unfortunately was cancelled because of lack of support. It is hoped that next year's members will show more enthusiasm for such a trip which the students of 1964-65 assured us is quite an experience.

The club also showed films of Canadian life and Government with the hope of encouraging its members in the field of political science.

STARDUST COMMITTEE

The Stardust Committee was composed of 23 senior students. Four sponsor teachers gave assistance and guidance to the committee and ungrudgingly gave up their time to supervise the Friday night Stardust Dances. The student body is grateful for the work these people did to make the dances a success.

FRENCH CLUB

This year the French Club has had one of its most successful years. The highlight of our events was the French Assembly but we also held some regular activities such as the Junior and Senior Public Speaking contests. At this time the executive of the club would like to take an opportunity to thank Mr. Allen our sponsor teacher and all the devoted members.

INTER-SCHOOL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP CLUB

This year our motto was "To Know Christ and Make Him Known." Our group meets every Tuesday after school. This year we studied the book of Ephesians. Special activities included a Christmas part, a special speaker and a week-end camp. We are grateful to Mr. Weare and Mr. McKaroff for their leadership.

UNITED NATIONS CLUB

The U.N. Club is one of the many extremely worthwhile activities in which students may take part in this school. The club discusses world affairs and this year we represented Cuba and Greece at the model U.N. at the University of Detroit. Our president, Ted Stanley, represented our school on the trip to the U.N. in New York. We would like to thank Mr. Veres, without whose help, we could not have accomplished much.

CADET INSPECTION 1965

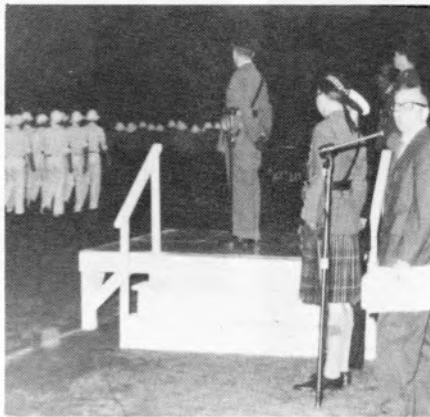

"Although rain dampened the ceremonial cadet inspection at Kennedy Collegiate, school officials and the reviewing officer, Brg. Murdoch, considered it one of the best ever seen at the school." This caption from the Windsor Star and many other similarly related comments left no doubt as to the success of our inspection this year.

The first half of the ceremony, the march past, demonstrated very clearly the combined effort and achievement put forth by each cadet and officer in striving for perfection. But just as the specialized demonstrations began, ominous drops of rain threatened a washout. The physical training drill and the first aid display were overlapped creating the impression of a two ring circus. The rain forced the entire group inside the school while the precision squad and the band valiantly executed their respective displays and did an extremely commendable job considering the circumstances.

In the dry confines of the gymnasium, the various awards were presented: "The Best Company" was won by Cdt.-Maj. Mel Schwartz, commanding officer of B Company; "Best Platoon" to Cdt.-Capt. Jim Ecclestone and number 7 platoon; after three consecutive years, the band, under Cdt.-Maj. Dennis Mahoney was finally displaced by the precision squad, under the leadership of Cdt.-Maj. Tom Grayson, as "The Best Specialist Demonstration"; "Best Cadet, the Greatest Asset to the Corps" was awarded to Cdt.-Maj. Grayson and "Best Cadet Officer" to Cdt.-Lt./Col. John Kent.

There were also the unsung heros of #1670, who never won an award but played a major part in keeping it going, such as the Q.M. Staff, the Instructual Staff of teachers, and the Administration Staff. This past year for cadets has been one of great cooperation on the part of all involved and I hope that this spirit will continue for many years to come.

THE K-HOP

By
Wanda Kajka

Royal blue and gold set the pace for our K-Hop. The annual spring dance was held on April 3rd. This year's theme is contained in its name — Daventurwreckana Paradoon. It was a combination of Davey Jones' Locker and an underwater paradise. Again a tremendous job was performed by the Social Committee in transforming the gymnasium into the tropical setting. The entrance resembled a waterfront inn and the nets containing thousands of varied colourful fishes served to enclose the couples in a deep fanciful submersion. Music by Bill Richardson's orchestra was enjoyed immensely.

SLEIGHBELL PROM

December 5th was chosen as the night for the annual "Sleighbell Prom." The gymnasium was artistically decorated with white snowflakes on varying shades of blue backgrounds depicting a setting of "Fantasy in Frost." About sixty-five couples danced to the music of Bill Richardson and his orchestra. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Jane Allison as Sleighbell Queen by Mr. Thomson. It is a night both she, and all who attended, will always remember.

Congratulations are in order to the social committee and all those responsible for this year's successful Sleighbell Prom.

SPIRIT WEEK

It was believed that school spirit at Kennedy Collegiate was gradually dying. Nobody seemed to care whether our teams won or lost. This statement proved to be false when October 26 to October 30 was proclaimed SPIRIT WEEK. The evening of October 30th was the day for the clash between the Kennedy and Herman football teams. Statistics stated that Herman would win. At the close of spirit week almost every pupil in the school had purchased a ticket for the game. With the students' backing, the team went on to victory.

The following are accounts of the activities exhibited through the halls and classrooms of Kennedy during SPIRIT WEEK.

By
Lynne Chadwick

12D was the class which showed the most school spirit. The home room was decorated with blue and gold streamers, posters at the back of the room

JANE ALLISON
Sleighbell Ball Queen

and Kennedy dolls dangling from the blackboards.

A coffin was placed in the room to represent "The Death of Herman" and the class declared one day of the week to be a day of mourning for THAT school. The pall bearers carried the coffin from room to room along with its special tombstone.

Another day the boys carried a stretcher representing an injured Herman player. Fred Oliver was the victim. Tom Carey held a bottle of green blood for transfusions and Dr. Fred Collis carefully examined some X-rays while Jack McLister wheeled a table of pills, needles and other operating equipment behind the stretcher. The rest of the class followed in a procession. The girls wore large yellow bows with "Go Clippers" written on them in blue, and the boys wore long yellow ties with "Clippers" printed on them.

12D thanks Mr. Veres for letting us decorate his room and thus encouraging other classes to make "School Spirit Week" a success.

By
Ricky Gardner

Since our school was lacking in the spirit necessary for a winning football team, Mr. Spirit, Bryn Davies, announced a school-wide "Spirit Week. Each class was to display the best spirit it could and free football tickets would be given to the class showing the best spirit.

10A, being as eager as all the other classes, began by wearing uniform hats from class to class which were designed by Liz Blomme and Anita Zawadski. School ribbons and colours were worn by everyone at one time or another. Because of night classes, we could not decorate our room, but we substituted the hall for it. Streamers were strung across the ceiling and cards reading "KENNEDY CLIPPERS" were hung from it. Balloons added a touch of colour and our hallway was completed.

Spirit Week was a big success with our class and I would like to thank Mr. Spinks for all his help and co-operation.

KENCOLL DANCES

This year the Kencoll sponsored two noon hour dances on October 16 and March 3, in which Bud Davies of C.K.L.W. acted as disc-jockey. The money obtained went to help finance the school yearbook. We would like to thank all the students who helped to make these dances a success.

Congratulations to Dave Andrews and John Laforet (boys' doubles) and Helen Pazitch (girls' singles). Next year we hope to increase our championship count.

What do
Einstein, Richard Petty, Hippocrates, Columbus, Copernicus have in common?

Bubble bursting.

Take Richard Petty. This concept bugged him: that Chrysler engineered cars didn't win long distance stock car races.

Petty, in his competition-equipped Plymouth, burst the whole bubble. He finished first in the 1964 Daytona 500—and set a new track record in the bargain! This was the first of many wins that made him the 1964 NASCAR Champion.

The Daytona race is tough. 500 miles around the fastest track in the world. It takes courage and stamina and engineering superiority to win that race. Superiority developed through years of research and testing on the proving grounds and in the laboratory. Engineering reflected in our 1965 showroom cars.

What bubbles bugged the others? Time is an absolute; evil spirits cause disease; the world is flat; the sun revolves around the earth. You knew that all along.

Depends on what you do with it! It could become a prize rooster, get top billing in a fricassee—or end up as a splatter on the floor. The possibilities are unlimited—the egg is just a start. Like university. You discover as you go along the endless possibilities an advanced education can bring. But you have to make a start—and not everyone can afford that. That's why the General Motors companies in Canada award 25 scholarships each year ranging in value up to $2,000 to help deserving students. More than 200 scholarships have been awarded since this programme began in 1955. Grants, too, are given to the universities themselves. Students can choose from any of 14 participating universities, pick the faculty they like, prepare in their own way to take their place in Canada's future. Life isn't always served sunny side up—but the GM scholarship plan can help.

Applications for General Motors Scholarship should be directed to the Registrars of the following participating universities: The University of Toronto; The University of Western Ontario, London; Queen's University, Kingston; The University of Montreal; The University of Manitoba, Winnipeg; The University of British Columbia, Vancouver; The University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; The University of Alberta, Edmonton; The University of New Brunswick, Fredericton; Laval University, Quebec City; McGill University, Montreal; Memorial University, St. John's, Newfoundland; Dalhousie University, Halifax; and McMaster University, Hamilton.
